The International Commission of Jurists (ICJ), in partnership with the Office of the United Nations High Commissioner for Human Rights (OHCHR), Regional Office for Central Asia (ROCA), and the NGO "Right and Prosperity", will hold an Expert Roundtable on 5 December 2025.

The event will support the practical implementation of the CEDAW Committee's Concluding Observations (February 2024) on women's access to justice and SGBV, present the findings of the ICJ 2025 report on access to justice for women survivors in Tajikistan, and identify concrete next steps for law, policy, practice, and services.

Participants will examine systemic challenges in preventing GBV and ensuring effective access to justice for survivors, as well as possible improvements in law and practice to secure the protection of human rights and the right to justice. Particular attention will be given to the implementation of the CEDAW Committee's recommendations one year after the State report submission.

The roundtable will provide a platform for dialogue on existing challenges and potential solutions between representatives of the Executive Office of the President; Supreme Court; General Prosecutor's Office; Ministry of Internal Affairs; Ministry of Justice; Committee on Women and Family Affairs; Ministry of Health and Social Protection; Bar Association and legal aid providers; judicial training institute; Parliament committees; Ombudsperson's Office; EU Delegation; OHCHR ROCA; UN agencies; specialised CSOs; practising lawyers and psychologists; academics; and ICJ experts.

The activity is conducted within the framework of the Concluding Observations on the Seventh Periodic Report of Tajikistan. In this context, General Recommendation No. 33 (2015) on women's access to justice recommends, inter alia, that the State party review evidentiary rules and their application, ensure transparent, confidential and gender-sensitive judicial procedures to prevent stigmatization and re-victimization of survivors of gender-based violence, strengthen victim protection in the justice system, and abolish requirements for victims to return to the scene of the crime. It is also linked to Chapters 7 and 10, points 54 and 94 of the 2023–2025 Action Plan of the National Human Rights Strategy of the Republic of Tajikistan until 2038, which foresees further development of legislation on the right to a fair trial, including access to justice for vulnerable groups (children, persons with disabilities, and women) and the review of gender-related legislation.
